A HOT WATER BOTTLE STORY.

A man bought a hot water bottle at a "nine-cent" store for 50c. We wanted to charge him a dollar for a good one, and he said, "I have saved 50c." But the first time he used the bottle it leaked and the second time it came apart, and then he said, "Oh, that I had my money back," but he could not get it.

MORAL:

A dollar well spent is better than fifty cents badly saved. Our hot water bottles are made by a reliable firm, and are worth the price we ask because they last and won't leak. Every bottle guaranteed perfect. Prices $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50, depending on size. Don't be like the man in the story.

WILL NOT SELL CITY BONDS AT PAR

Birmingham Banking Firm Has Been Made an Offer by the City to Redeem Them.

Pensacola's credit must be good in other cities to judge from the actions of a Birmingham banking firm in refusing to sell some bonds they hold in their possession which were issued many years ago.

Recently Mayor Bliss received a letter from the firm of Otto Marx & Co., inquiring about some bonds they held, and Mayor Bliss replied to the firm stating that the city would redeem the bonds at par. This offer has been refused, as is shown by the following letter received yesterday by the mayor:

"Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 16, 1935. 'Mr. Chas. H. Bliss, Mayor, City of Pensacola, Fla.

"Dear Sir—We thank you for your favor of the 14th inst., enclosing statistics on the City of Pensacola. 'We could not sell our bonds at anything like your price. The fact is, we are paying more than that for the bonds. We appreciate your trouble in this matter, and if you ascertain the name of the attorneys who passed upon the legality of this issue, we will very much appreciate your advising us.

"Very truly yours, 'O. H. MARX & CO.

A Hat Story.

A Birmingham (Ala.) man told a somewhat remarkable hat story the other day, vouching for its truth by saying that he was the wearer of one of the hats. He walked into the dining room of an Atlanta hotel one day, putting his hat on the one on the hatrack. When he left the dining room he found that his hat had been taken and the other one left in its place. There was nothing to do but take it and be content. He came north, and at a hotel the hat swapping performance was again repeated. Some one took from the dining room hatrack the one taken by the story teller from the Atlanta hotel.

A few days later the Atlanta man recognized at the same hotel the hat he had lost. He took it. He went south a few days later and stayed at the hotel he had occupied on his former visit. One day when he entered the dining room there was only one hat on the rack. He placed his own beside it. When he left the dining room and picked up the one hat left he found it was the one he had lost there the year before.—New York Tribune.

Hints About Screws.

Where screws are driven into soft wood and subjected to considerable strain they are very likely to work loose, and it is often difficult to make them hold. In such cases the use of glue is profitable. Make the glue thick. Immerse a stick about half the size of the screw and put it into the hole. Then put in the screw and drive it home as quickly as possible. When there is an article of furniture to be hastily repaired and no glue is at hand, bore a hole, insert the stick, fill the rest of the cavity with pulverized rosin, then heat the screw sufficiently to melt the rosin as it is driven in. Where screws are driven into wood for temporary purposes they can be more easily removed by dipping them in oil before inserting. When buying screws, notice that the heads are small and well cut, that there are no flaws in the body or thread part and that they have gimlet points. A screw of good make will drive as easily into oak as others into pine and will endure having twice the force brought against it.

A Two Edged Cure.

A story is told of the wonderful cure from deafness of a patient who was recommended to hear a Wagner opera and to sit near the orchestra by the trombones. The physician accompanied his patient and sat beside him. Suddenly, while the crash of the instruments was at its loudest, the deaf man found he could hear. "Doctor," he almost shrieked, "I can hear!" The doctor gave no sign that he noticed the remark. "I tell you, doctor," repeated the patient in ecstasy, "you have saved me! I have recovered my hearing." Still the physician was silent. He had become deaf himself.—Harper's Weekly.

BOARD OF SAFETY MET LAST NIGHT

When Committee Was Given Power to Purchase a New Hook and Ladder Truck.

The Board of Public Safety held an adjourned session last night. It was for the purpose of finishing up the business which could not be handled on Wednesday night, owing to the lateness of that hour when that session adjourned. Those present were Mayor Bliss, and Messrs. McGaughey, Oliver and White. Mr. McGaughey acting as chairman.

The most important action taken by the body was the delegation of power to the committee on fire apparatus to purchase a new hook and ladder truck, which had been allowed by the city council. This matter has been under consideration for some time, and the style of truck has been decided upon by the committee, but the latter was not ready to report, so in order to save time it was given authority to purchase a truck, which will be done in a few days.

The question of the expenses of Chief Bicker to Chattanooga and Atlanta, to look over the fire apparatus there was discussed, and the board decided to defray his expenses which amounted to about $25.00.

Must Attend Employees.

Fireman O'Donovan's petition for time lost and expenses of a physician on account of injuries sustained at the recent fire brought on a discussion. The members of the board believed that it was the duty of the city physician to attend to all firemen and police officers who were injured while in the discharge of their duty. After consulting the city ordinances a resolution was passed requesting that the City Board of Health instruct the city physician to attend all injured men of the city in all departments, provided they met with injuries while in the discharge of their duties.

The request of Fireman O'Donovan for pay and physician's fees was allowed.

New Officers.

Application for a position upon the police force was read from G. W. McNair and he was elected subject to examination.

Elliot McCloskey and F. Ward, recommended by the marshal, were elected members of the department.

The applications of P. O. Harrison and Geo. F. Jones for positions in the fire department were read and referred to the chief.

The resignation of F. C. Humphreys from the police department was read and accepted.

GREEK ATHLETES.

The Way They Ran and the Style of Track They Used.

"In the foot races of the ancient Greeks," says a writer, "the shape of the stadium caused a great difference, since it was not circular, but long and narrow, with one or both ends semicircular. Consequently the runners had to take a sharp turn at the end of each lap, while except at the turn they were running a straight course. Evidently this turn needed much practice, for the pictures on the old vases show athletes practicing this one part of the race as a kind of drill, taking each movement separately.

"In early times, when all the runners turned round the same post, the turn gave opportunities for foul play, and there are stories of one competitor tripping another at the post or seizing him by the hair to prevent his winning. But later, in the shorter distances at least, each runner had his own track and post to turn round, and probably the separate courses were roped off in much the same way as they are now in sprint races. For the start elaborate arrangements were made and at Olympia the stone slabs are still to be seen, with the grooves at regular intervals that had to be toed at starting.

"Greek long distance men ran in the most approved style of the present day. But the sprinters apparently employed a considerable amount of arm action and took very long steps, rising well on to the toes. Then there was the race in armor, an event highly praised by several of the Greek writers as a valuable preparation for war and which is supposed to explain the famous running charge of the Athenians at Marathon."

A Literary Coincidence.

"My father, W. Clark Russell," said Herbert Russell in telling of a literary coincidence, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well-known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Funerals in the Highlands.

A Scottish correspondent writes of funerals in the highlands: "There are no undertakers here. A carpenter makes the simple coffin, relatives and friends carry it, hip high, to its last resting place, which is dug when the end of the journey is reached, and, having walked perhaps six miles to the chosen kirkyard, they take a refreshment of sandwiches and whisky and walk home again. The rigorous absence of pomp is maintained, but there is the added embellishment of pipe music."

Get Near to Them.

An English druggist gives the following list of blunders made by his poorer customers: "Catch an eel" for cochineal; "prosperous paste" for phosphorus paste; "grease it" for creosote; "fishy water" for vichy water; "guitar" for catarrh; "everlasting" for effervescent.

Force of Habit.

"How many times has your husband been under the knife?" "Dear me, I don't know; but he's become so accustomed to it that he lies down to be operated on every time he sees a doctor."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Arctic explorers say the aurora produces an agreeable, prickly, stimulating sensation.

MAY BUILD NEW THEATRE IN MOBILE

Jake Wells Is There Looking Over the Ground With That Intention.

The Mobile Herald says: Jake Wells, of the Wells Theatrical Syndicate, who is operating a chain of theatres in southern cities, arrived in Mobile this morning and is holding several conferences with persons with whom he has been negotiating for a site for a theatre in this city.

Manager Jake Tannenbaum and Mr. Wells were together this afternoon and called on Postmaster P. D. Barker. Mr. Barker was not in his office but it is understood that they went to discuss the proposition for building a theatre on Mr. Barker's property on Conti street, opposite the Klosky hotel, mention of which was made in the Herald some weeks ago.

Mr. Wells called upon Mr. Duggan & Taylor this forenoon and was closeted for some time. Some months ago Mr. Wells and Mr. Duggan had some correspondence in reference to the building of a theatre on the site of the old Fry homestead, Conti and Joachim streets, but it seems that negotiations as to that point have been practically closed. It can be said that the Schuberts, of New York, one of the largest syndicates in the business, have secured a five years lease on the site by capitalists operating through Duggan and Taylor.

In some circles it is said that Mr. Tannenbaum would prefer to have the Wells syndicate enter Mobile in competition rather than the Schuberts, because of the fact that the Wells attractions are of a different style from those controlled by the Klaw and Erlanger syndicate, while on the other hand the Schuberts are in direct line of competition as to the nature of attractions.

If Wells decides to build in Mobile it is believed by some that the Schuberts will withdraw from the field.

STUDIO FOR VOCAL INSTRUCTION

Miss Irma Haight, soprano, of New York City, has located in Pensacola, and will open a studio for vocal instruction.

Miss Haight is an experienced teacher of singing and having been specially trained in concert, opera and oratorio work, is fitted to teach the interpretive side of the art.

The press has given the following favorable comments concerning this singer's work:

"Miss Irma Haight sang selections from the opera of Faust in an artistic manner. Miss Haight has a beautiful soprano voice, and is rapidly gaining popularity as a brilliant concert singer."—Chicago Saturday Evening Herald.

Above all else it is the intellectual and artistic features of Miss Haight's singing which made the strongest impression. Every sentence and phrase was wisely considered and given in gem-like style. When these advantages are added technical accuracy, an absolutely flawless fidelity to pitch and an earnest delivery it is apparent that we have described a singer suitable to please the most fastidious."—Chicago Musical Times.

Address Miss Haight, at 203 West Gregory street, or call mornings between 9 and 11 o'clock.

YOUNG LADY WAS GIVEN FAREWELL RECEPTION

Miss Katie Connors, the daughter of Officer and Mrs. W. H. Connors, gave a farewell reception last night at her home in honor of Miss Inoglaui LeBlanc, of Jeanette, La., who has been in the city since July.

There were a large number of young people present, who spent the evening most pleasantly, and who were treated to delicious refreshments before their departure.

Miss LeBlanc has made many friends since her arrival in Pensacola, who will regret her departure. She will leave Sunday and again enter the Convent of Mercy.
